

The PSAC BC Racially Visible Caucus and the Union of National Employees BC and Yukon invite you to

CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY MONTH!

with a series of posters, facts, and bookmarks that commemorate our heritage.

Find out more about Black History Month with these online resources!

The first non-fiction book about B.C.'s black pioneers, Crawford Kilian's Go Do Some Great Thing (1978), concentrated on the 19th-century migration of blacks from California, as encouraged by Governor James Douglas, and particularly the leadership of Mifflin Gibbs who was once told by an associate of Frederick Douglass to "go do some great thing."

Visit youtube.com to see Crawford Kilian talk about his book and tell the story of the black pioneers of B.C.

<http://bit.ly/bhm-video>

How much do we know about black history in Canada? Who were the key figures? What do we lose when we don't include black stories in our history.

Watch Black history in Canada: a live interactive roundtable

<http://bit.ly/BHM-roundtable>

To celebrate the achievements of black Canadians and reflect on their experiences, CBC Digital Archives has gathered a selection of radio and TV clips that honour black history – some of which exemplify the racism blacks have had to endure and overcome, both in Canada and around the world, while others highlight the remarkable accomplishments of extraordinary people.

Visit cbc.ca to view this great collection of archived material.

<http://bit.ly/bhm-cbc>

The Union of National Employees

✂ cut here for your black history bookmark!

CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY MONTH!

Visit cbc.ca to view a great collection of archived material

<http://bit.ly/bhm-cbc>

Visit youtube to see Crawford Kilian talk about his book and tell the story of the black pioneers of BC

<http://bit.ly/bhm-video>

Watch Black history in Canada: a live interactive roundtable

<http://bit.ly/BHM->

