

PHOENIX HALLOWEEN CONTEST

PRINCE RUPERT EVENTS

Federal public service workers are showing up every day to deliver crucial services we all depend on—even though they stopped getting paid properly. Over 200,000 workers and their families are still suffering financial and emotional fallout from the Phoenix pay system disaster.

Halloween is almost here. This will mark the second anniversary of members engaging in large scale actions and mobilization around the Phoenix pay system.

In the spirit of the season, PSAC is asking members to send in a photo or video of their Halloween costume or decorations, workplace actions, carved pumpkins, banners, signs or anything else that lets the government know we are tired of not getting paid properly.

PSAC will use what members send in to show the government they have to do more to ensure federal government workers get paid correctly and that they must negotiate a collective agreement that recognizes the value of our work.
